

COMMUNITY RELATIONS BUREAU SCHOOL PRESENTATIONS

The Suffolk County Police Department has School Resource Officers who offer presentations for students in grades K-12. Our specially trained police officers bring a unique perspective and share relevant, on-the-job experiences about these issues with students. The following presentations may be presented in an auditorium style or may be more effective in a classroom setting depending upon your school environment. Many schools have decided to have presentations during their Health curriculum since all students must attend this particular course of study. We have also presented in Driver's Education classes, Law classes, Criminal Justice/Forensic classes as well as at special assemblies or "theme" days for drug prevention, bullying, safety or character. We can tailor our programs and will make every effort to accommodate the needs of each individual school. If you would like to schedule a presentation for the upcoming school year, please contact the SCPD Community Relations Bureau at 631-852-6109. Please see attached menu of topics that we offer.
